Message from the President

The Japan Institute of International Affairs (JIIA) is a private, nonpartisan policy think-tank focused on foreign and security policy issues. On top of a wide range of research programs, the institute promotes dialogues and joint studies with other institutions and experts at home and abroad, examines Japanese foreign policy and makes proposals to the government, and disseminates information on international relations to the public.

In 1959, former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida founded the Japan Institute of International Affairs to deepen Japan’s knowledge of world affairs and to bolster the foreign relations of a democratic Japan. In this effort, he garnered the support of key members of parliament, luminaries including the foreign minister, president of the Bank of Japan, chairman of the Japan Federation of Economic Organizations, as well as leading figures of the academy and media. As Prime Minister, Yoshida steered Japan through the post-1945 democratic transformation, stepping down from office in 1954. Yoshida then served as the first chairman of the institute. In 1960, the institute received accreditation as an independent foundation from the Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

In 2012, the institute was certified as “a public-interest incorporated foundation” by the Prime Minister in recognition of its significant contribution to the public interest, and this change in status became effective on April 1 the same year.

The institute, together with a large network of affiliated scholars, aims to serve as an indispensable resource related to international affairs in a complex world. I have been privileged to lead the institute as its president and look forward to further involvement with this outward-looking think-tank.

Research Programs and Conferences

The institute is engaged in a range of research on international political and security issues, grand strategy, nuclear non-proliferation, regional integration, energy, and a host of bilateral relationships. Our research emphasizes policy analysis and recommendation as well as the dissemination of information to stimulate informed public debate. Research findings are presented in reports, publications and in public forums. The institute currently organizes following study groups and taskforce during the fiscal years 2011 - 2013:

Fiscal year 2013 (April 2013 - March 2014)
- Japanese diplomacy in the Indo-Pacific age: toward a collaborative relationship with emerging powers
- Scenario planning for the Korean peninsula
- The Middle East as a global strategic challenge - outlook in 2030 and responses
- Development of the Russian Far East/Siberia and Japan's economic security
- Research on radical Islamist activities and strife over natural resources - from the perspective of Middle Eastern states vis-a-vis global actors
- China risk and efforts toward regional economic integration
- Rising challenges for the Japan-U.S. alliance in the global commons (cyberspace, outer space, and the Arctic Ocean)

Fiscal year 2012 (April 2012 - March 2013)
- The future of the Arab Spring
- Humanitarian assistance trends in the international community and Japan's role
- The security order in Asia (in particular, the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean)
- The transformation of Russia's political system and its impact on foreign policy
- China during a change of administration: overview of the Hu Jintao era and prospects for the Xi Jinping era
- The present and future of regional integration
- Arctic governance and Japan's diplomatic strategy
- Circumstances in North Korea: political/economic changes under the new regime and an analysis of its foreign relations
- New developments in US domestic and foreign affairs

Fiscal year 2011 (April 2011 - March 2012)
- The place of alliances in US Foreign Policy
- Medium to long-term prospects for Japan-US-China relations
- China’s foreign aid
- A multi-layered approach towards North Korean regime: political, economic, diplomatic, and societal
- Maritime security and safety
- Energy, environment and modernization in Russia
- Political turbulence in the Middle East
- The rise of emerging countries and the future of global governance
- Japan’s international competitiveness
- Taskforce on the new nuclear order -phase III
- Social Resilience (SR) research project on: pension system, medicare system, unemployment insurance system and macro analysis
The institute also regularly organizes international conferences in Japan and also abroad, to exchange opinions and discuss policy. We hold a variety of meetings at which officials, journalists, academics and other foreign-policy specialists debate world affairs, and we invite researchers from in and outside Japan to enhance international scholarly collaboration. Our fellows are actively engaged in research and analysis.

Centers

Center for the Promotion of Disarmament Non-Proliferation (CPDNP)
CPDNP is a research center dedicated to supporting Japan's disarmament and non-proliferation policy. The current research emphasis is nuclear disarmament. The Center acts as the secretariat of the National Operation System for the Comprehensive Nuclear Test-Ban Treaty (CTBT) and supervises the construction and operation of ten monitoring stations in Japan that are part of the CTBT verification regime. Further information is available at: http://www.iijnet.or.jp/JIIA-CPDNP/English/index.htm

Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP)
The Japan Institute of International Affairs is one of the ten co-founders of the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP) and serves as the secretariat of CSCAP-Japan. Founded in 1993 in Kuala Lumpur, CSCAP is the region’s leading Track Two (non-governmental) organization for promoting dialogue and cooperation on regional security issues and now has 21 national Member Committees and one observer. CSCAP provides an informal mechanism for scholars, officials and others in their private capacities to discuss political and security issues and challenges facing the Asia-Pacific region. CSCAP also provides policy recommendations to various inter-governmental bodies, convenes regional and international meetings and establishes linkages with institutions and organizations in other parts of the world to exchange information, insights and experiences in the area of regional political-security cooperation. CSCAP is looking forward to strengthening its links to the governmental Track One political-security dialogue and cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region such as the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF). Further information is available at: www.cscap.org/

Pacific Economic Cooperation Council (PECC)
The Japan Institute of International Affairs serves as the secretariat of the Japan National Committee for Pacific Economic Cooperation (JANCPEC). Founded in 1980 at the initiative of Masayoshi Ohira and Malcolm Fraser, then prime ministers of Japan and Australia, the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council is an independent and unofficial regional mechanism to advance economic cooperation and market-driven integration. PECC is a unique partnership of business, government and intellectual leaders engaged in their private capacities to promote economic growth, social progress, scientific and technological development, and environmental conservation. PECC has twenty-three full Member Committees and one Associate Member from economies in the Pacific region. The Japan National Committee consists of about 80 representatives of business, government and the academy. Further information is available at: www.pecc.org/
Influential Forums

A number of JIIA forums are on the record and open to the media.

The institute invites distinguished speakers from Japan and abroad to address germane issues and offer insights on international relations and Japanese foreign policy. The institute organizes some 30 forums annually.

Speakers recently hosted by JIIA:

- Mr. Pascal Lamy, Director-General, WTO
- Dr. Joseph Nye, Harvard University
- Mr. Hamid Karzai, President of Afghanistan
- Mr. Yukio Hatoyama, Prime Minister of Japan
- Dr. John Ikenberry, Professor of Princeton University
- Mr. Wallace Gregson, U.S. Assistant Secretary of Defence
- Amb. John Roos, U.S. Ambassador to Japan
- Mr. Taro Aso, Prime Minister of Japan
- Amb. Richard Holbrooke, US Special Representative for Afghanistan and Pakistan with Dr. Sadako Ogata, President of JICA
- Mr. Ban Ki-moon, Secretary General of the United Nations
Publications

The institute offers a range of periodic and occasional publications in Japanese and English, including books, journals and policy reports. The publications are disseminated in print and electronic forms.

Kokusai Mondai (International Affairs), published since 1960, is a leading journal of scholarly analysis of Japanese foreign policy and international affairs and is published both in print and online ten times a year.

Membership

Membership (individual and corporate) is an integral part of JIIA operation. Membership privileges include:

- Invitation to JIIA Forums and other public events.
- Access to webcasts of JIIA Forums.
- Online access to the publications (Kokusai Mondai, etc).
- Online access to the JIIA database of major Japanese language publications on international relations.

Fellowship

The Fellowship Program seeks to promote and enhance intellectual collaboration between Japan and regions of the world with which Japan has relatively sparse intellectual connections. The Program awards fellowships by invitation to young scholars and analysts to conduct advanced research at The Japan Institute of International Affairs. The Institute has accepted fellows from collaborative institutions in Asia, the Middle East, and eastern Europe. To date, there have been over one hundred thirty JIIA Fellows.
